Light House Tender Columbine
Saves Oregon's Passengers.

VESSEL CANNOT BE SAVED

Oregon Total Loss—Arabia In—Artec,
Aurelia, Vermont and Brablock
Out—Heather to Tillamook
And Return

A dispatch to Seattle from Valdez says the passengers and crew of the steamer Oregon took to the life boats and were picked up several hours later by the light house tender Columbine. The Oregon was three miles off her course when she struck. There are no hopes of saving the vessel. The captain maintained good discipline and threatened to shoot the men who were attempting to get off in a life boat. His rigorous action prevented any loss of life. Some of the cargo may be saved if the weather remains calm.

The big British tramp Vermont left out yesterday morning with over 3,000,000 feet of Oregon lumber in her hold. The Vermont is the first steamer of foreign tonnage to load at Astoria. She took on 1,500,000 feet of lumber at the Tongue Point mills, completing her cargo at Portland.

The steamer Lurline will be down from Portland early this morning on a business trip to Young's river, where there is a lot of freight awaiting her, and she will be back to her berth at the Flavel pier in good time to leave up for Portland at 6 o'clock this evening, ready for all who may be bound for the metropolis.

The steamer Aurelia left out yesterday morning bound for San Francisco, with lumber and passengers.

The steamer Lurline will leave her dock here at 6 o'clock this evening, for Portland, as usual, an extra trip.

The steamship Gymeric left out for Nanaimo and the Sound yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

The British ship Brablock, Captain Baxter in command, sailed yesterday morning on her long voyage to Europe, with grain.

BIZARRE ROMANCE IS ENDED

W. O. Gorski Meets Miss Silveira on His Way to Wilds of Northern Canada
—Engagement and Wedding Follows.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The bizarre romance of W. O. Gorski, soldier of fortune, and Miss Velle Silveira, the well-known portrait painter, has culminated in a secret wedding in Chicago. The wedding occurred a week ago, but the details of the romance and the fact of the marriage were concealed from friends of the principals in the case until today Gorski is a stepson of Ignace Jan Padewski.

It was more than a year ago that the young man, who was then traveling through Switzerland, decided to take a turn at military life, and he secured a commission as an officer of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, the military body which patrols the wilds of Northwestern Canada. Before leaving civilization for what he then thought would be half a lifetime, Gorski stopped at Chicago to bid farewell to his friend, Ralph Modjeski, son of the actress, Mme. Modjeska.

The day before his departure he met Miss Silveira, at the Modjeski residence. Only a few hours were they together. Then Gorski departed for Canada to fight Indian outlaws, carrying on his courtship by mail.

Mrs. Gorski will continue her art work. She recently completed portraits of Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor, and Miss Natalie Fairbanks. Mr. Gorski says that later he may take up his former work as manager of his stepfather's tours.

TRIP TO THE SEA

there was a general scurrying for coats, hats, umbrellas and other detached property, and the entire group of business men of both cities started for the depot, where they arrived in good time for the evening express. And soon the Portlanders were home-ward bound.

Thus transpired, and ended, a day that shall prove to have been large with potent results for the state and all its future; and the consensus of opinion on the streets and in the clubs last night, was that the visit of the Portland business men and their distinguished guests was timely, happily conceived and fraught with distinct value in the welding of the people of the state in the positive and twofold conclusion that the completion of the jetty project at the mouth of the Columbia was the primal and single thing to be wrought; that it must be striven for unitedly and incessantly and all the largeness of government aid invoked in that behalf, before anything else was sought.
